The LA Art Show Celebrates 30 Years by Genie Davis

The LA Art Show is returning to the Los Angeles Convention Center to mark its 30th anniversary. The first major art show in LA is now back with over 100 galleries from every corner of the globe...

DIVERSEartLA will also be back, curated as it has been for the last eight years by Marisa Caichio, and this year showcasing a variety of projects affiliated with DIVERSEartLA since its beginning.

According to Caichio, "Visitors can look forward to an engaging display that highlights pivotal moments through videos of performances and installations from each year."

Caichio notes "This retrospective, which feels particularly important right now, honors the creative contributions of our partners while emphasizing the vibrant evolution of DIVERSE as a vital presence in the art community."

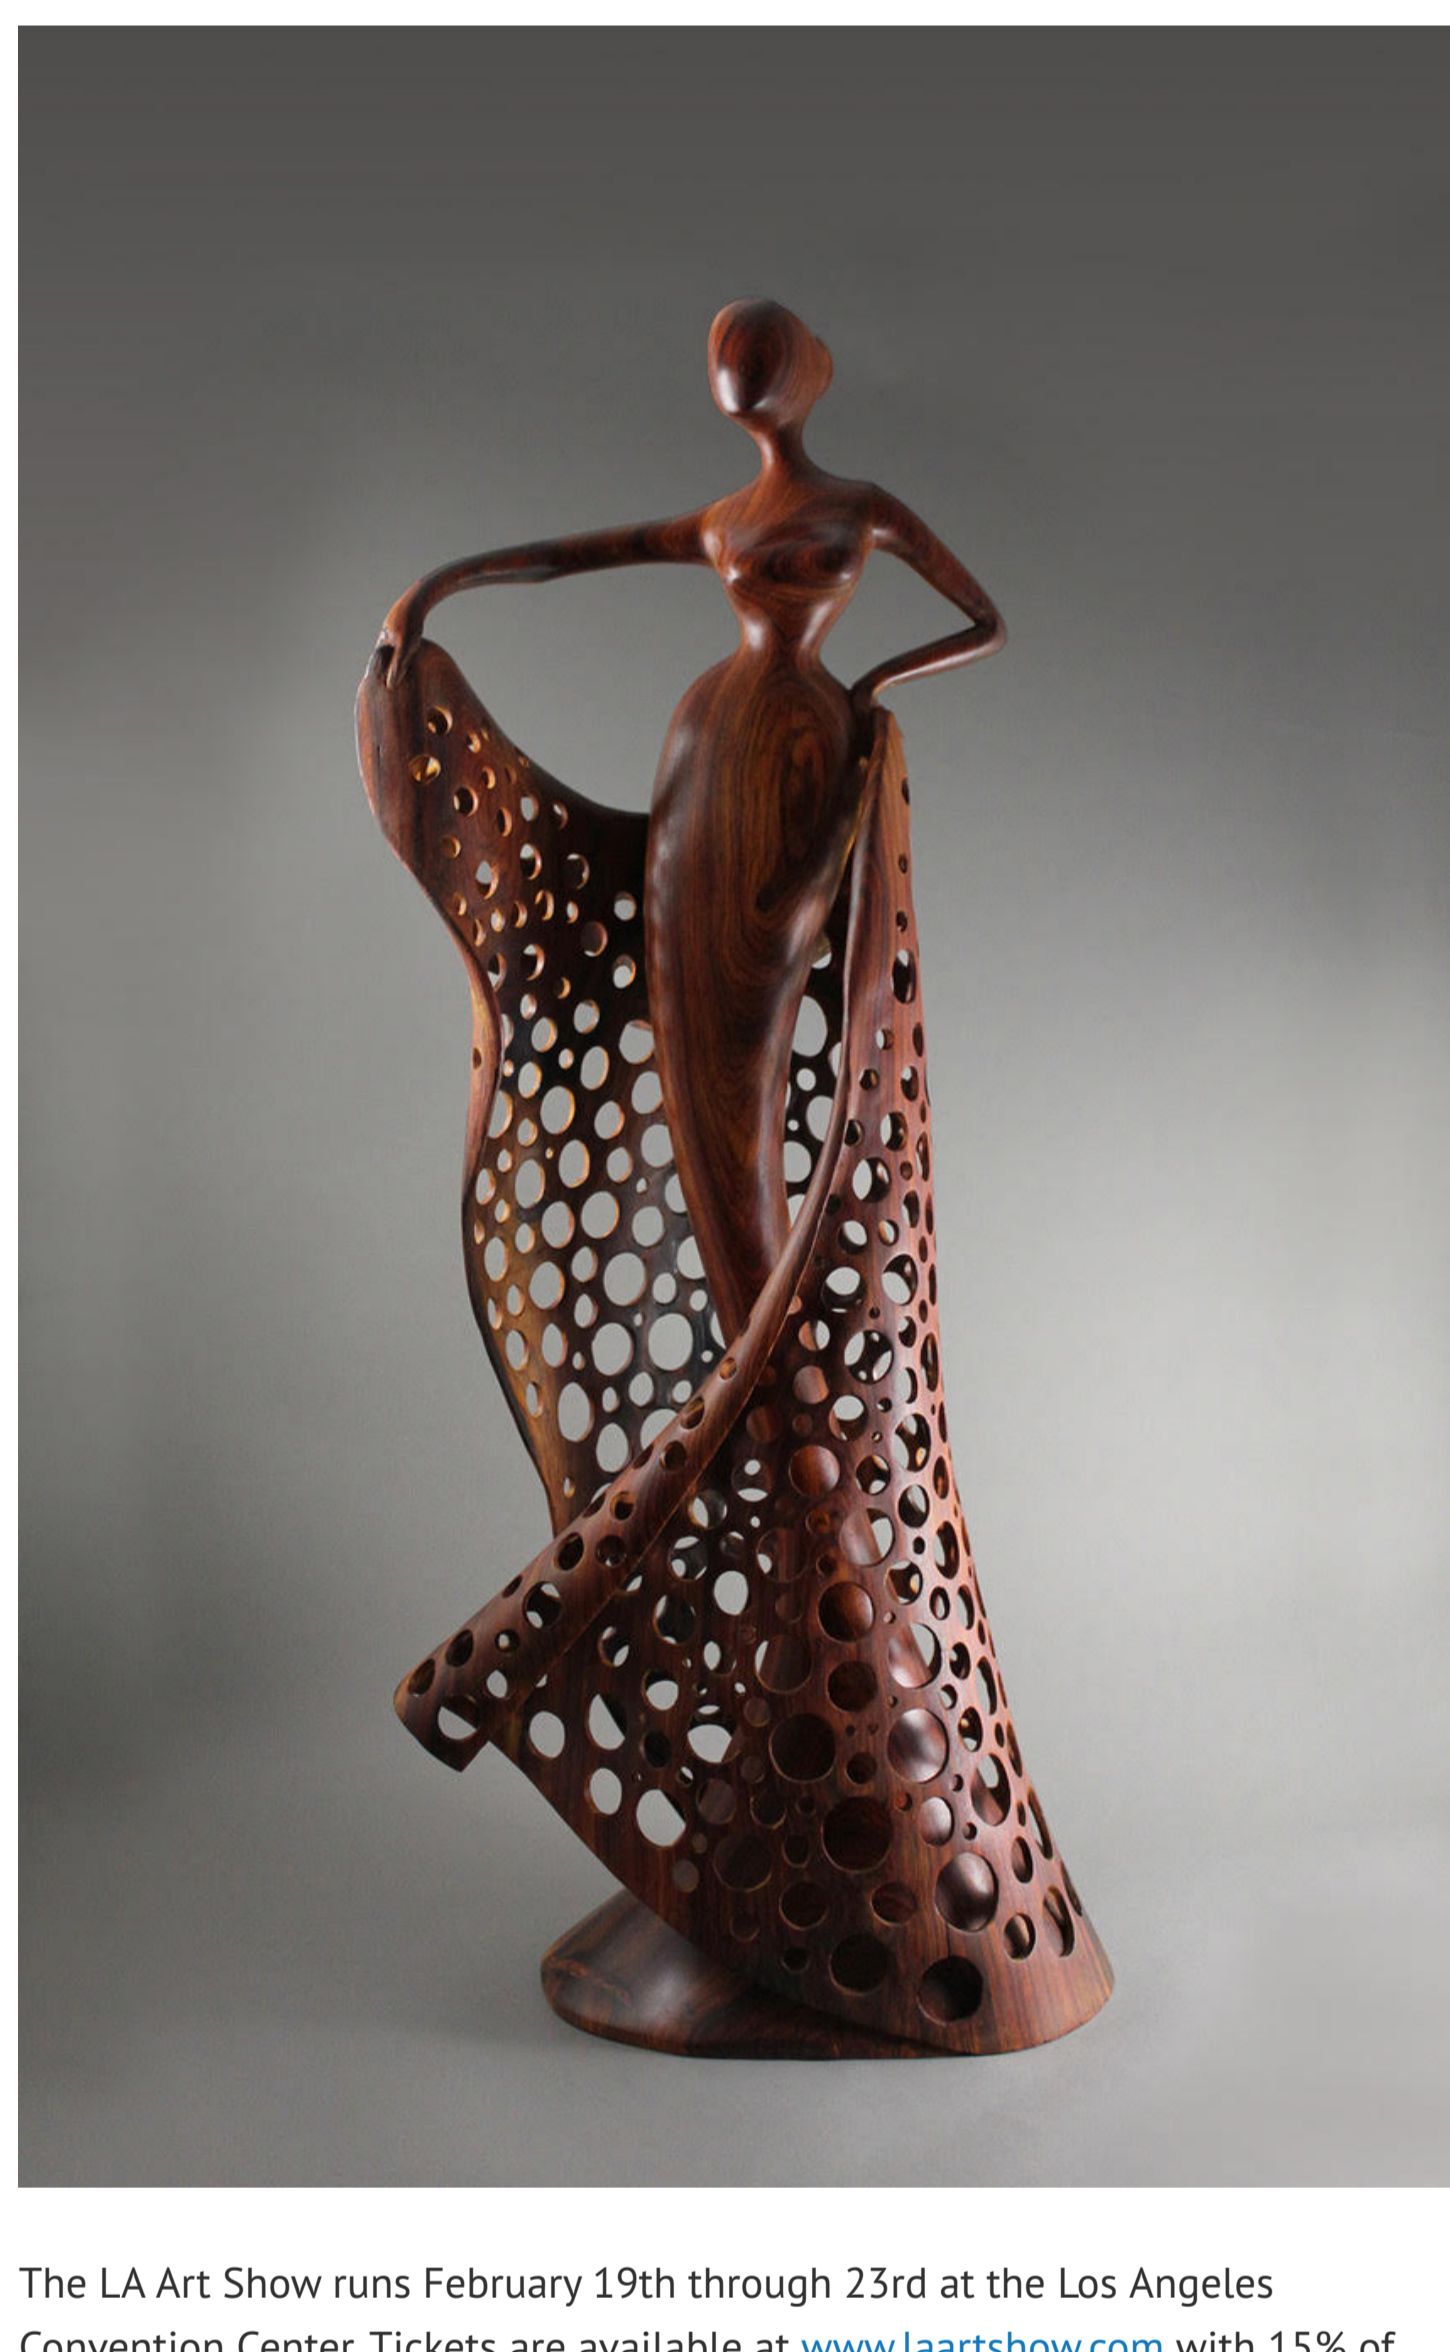

Other DIVERSEartLA highlights include Carlos Martiel's Cauce/Riverbed, exploring the deep challenges faced by immigrants in California...

Los Angeles-area artist Robert Vargas will be back at the event, creating an enormous live mural, "Heroes," during the Opening Night event.

In addition, LA-based Building Bridges Art Exchange will showcase art from those artists who have lost their homes and studios in the fires...

The decision to proceed with the LA Art Show this year was in fact made in support of LA's creative community in the aftermath of the recent fires.

The LA Art Show runs February 19th through 23rd at the Los Angeles Convention Center. Tickets are available at www.laartshow.com with 15% of proceeds being donated to the life-saving mission of American Heart Association's Life is WhyTM campaign.

Free entry to the fair is available February 20-23 for firefighters and their families as a thank-you for their efforts on behalf of all Angelenos in the recent and cataclysmic fires throughout our region.

Stay tuned to this space for coverage of the event as well as other art programs during February's LA Art Week - beginning with as always, our own homegrown LA Art Show.
